

Employees honored in 2020

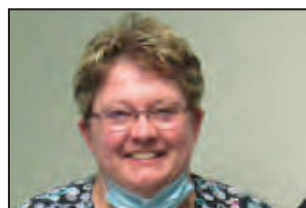

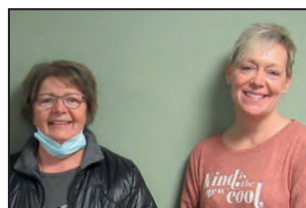

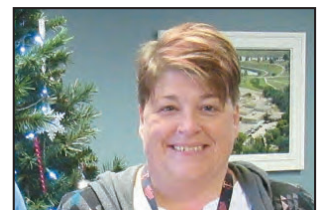

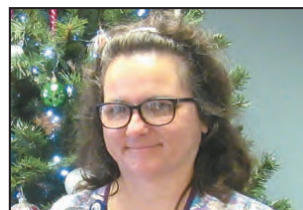

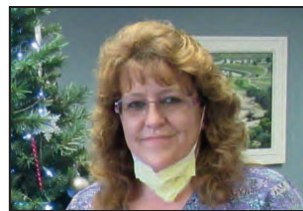

At the end of each year, employees who have worked at St. Aloisius Medical Center starting with 5 years and at 5 year increments thereafter, receive an award for their service with St. Aloisius.

Like most of the events throughout this past year with the coronavirus, we have found new ways to still celebrate the grand moments in our lives. Our annual award celebration for years of service at St. Aloisius was one of those grand moments. There were 27 employees honored this year for a grand total of 480 years of service. Pretty significant, right?

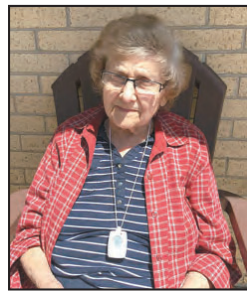

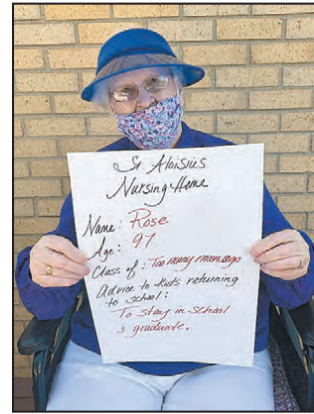

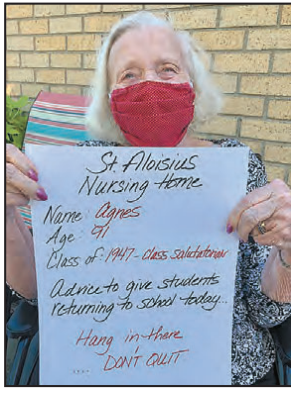

We did not hold the annual banquet at the Harvey Eagles as in the past but we did celebrate each person individually. Each of the following employees received an award certificate and staff celebrated with special events during the holiday season sponsored by St. Aloisius. Pizza for lunch or doughnuts at break are always an added highlight to the workday.

LTC activities continue even with distancing requirements...

During this past year the LTC Activities have continued with many challenges but creative staff have kept the fun times rolling with bus rides, parades, hallway car races, distanced bingo games, quiet times with friends, Christmas glasses photo shoot, Price is Right, ice cream delivery bike and many more events.

The LTC activities staff, led by Sara Balfour, has really worked hard to keep special activities available throughout the past months and we thank them for all of their hard work and dedication to our residents.
